DIS BERLIN

Ciria (Soria) 1959

Dis Berlin, cosmopolitan pseudonym of Mariano Carrera Blázquez, is not only a painter but a poet, a reader, a cinephile, a flea market customer..... in summary a person always interested in any artistic event.

His painting evokes fantastical, futuristic and metaphysical situations as well as literary, melancholic and transcendent ones too.

His treatment of colour, both mat and intense, gives him a singular and characteristic style.

His works can be found in Buenos Aires , Lisbon, Munich, Vienna, Naples, Athens, Toulouse, Bordeaux and numerous Spanish cities.

ARTIST'S VISIONS

Loge! Loge! Here ! (Wotan)

I wanted to represent the final moments of the play, with a desolate Wotan asking Loge to put his fire around the rock, where Brünnhilde is sleeping. In the foreground a man and a woman are absorbed in the drama but somehow distant.

The whole atmosphere appears hot, due to the fire, in direct contrast to both the cold features of the couple and the ice chilling the bottle of wine which will probably be opened when the play finishes...
