JURI RODKIN

Ufa. 1960

Artist of great refinement, he recovers tradition to take us to his world, full of sensations and suggestions. Here, beauty, sensuality and the quotes of great masters of painting are always present.

Juri Rodkin's paintings do not call decadence up, they move, on the contrary, around sensuality and a plenty life as the classical people. Degeneration has no strength due to the life of his work.

Rodkin's characters are elegant, sensual and evoke in a clear and brilliant way the world of poetry, culture, human relationships and the mystery shades of a more elevated life.

He says: "I strongly believe in art, with its lively and glorious history, with his magnificent idols; I believe in the pictures that rise over the waves of time, offering delight and pleasure; I believe in their never-ending and splendid course as well as in my own one."

His works are in collections all over Europe.

ARTIST'S VISIONS

Into this evil fight today I am afraid to creep (Brünnhilde)

"I was fascinated by Brünnhilde's delicate and loving submission towards Wotan. She is the daughter that admires and understands him despite his contradictions. She sees beyond her reason and acts moved by the deepest feelings. This is why the changing of the denouement, leaves her sad and sorrowful."
